

Intellectual Property

The Intellectual Property Group, a team of experienced intellectual property lawyers, helps clients protect and realize the full potential of one of their most valuable assets: Intellectual Property. The globalization of enterprise and the age of the Internet demands broad and vigilant protection, as well as fast and calculated response to threats.

Our attorneys advise clients on appropriately selecting and publicizing trademarks. We manage trademark portfolios from the beginning stages of an idea, through application and registration, and beyond. To protect our clients' mediums of expression, we prepare copyright applications for filing in the United States Copyright Office. We also handle internet domain name disputes in all ICANN-accredited forums, and have extensive experience addressing copyright and trademark infringement matters. Our attorneys provide counsel on brand protection and offer proactive strategies for intellectual property management to companies at every level, from start-ups to global corporations

Our office also handles patent infringement and trade secret litigation. Whether in the U. S. Patent and Trademark Office, federal or state courts, or through our international network of trademark agents, we offer clients reliable intellectual property enforcement services worldwide.
