Marisa Moody is a results-driven probate paralegal with experience supporting attorneys in litigation, estate planning, and trust administration. As an OSBA Certified Paralegal, she assists in researching legal matters, drafting pleadings, and preparing documentation to meet client needs. She is proficient in WealthCounsel, LexisNexis, and other legal tools, and is skilled at maintaining detailed case records and ensuring confidentiality across all matters.

Before joining Mansour Gavin, Marisa gained experience at several law firms, where she managed complex caseloads, coordinated discovery, and supported attorneys through all phases of trial preparation. Her work has spanned areas including probate, immigration, and estate planning, giving her a well-rounded understanding of diverse legal processes and client needs.

Marisa holds a master's in international security from the University of Denver, where she completed extensive policy and risk analysis projects, and a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science, Law and Social Thought from the University of Toledo. While at Toledo, she studied abroad in London, focusing on British Constitutional and Criminal Law and EU Politics, served as President of the Law and Social Thought Society, and mentored first-year students in the program.
