

A dark, warm-toned banner image showing hands writing on a document. The text "Alternative Dispute Resolution" is overlaid in white.

Alternative Dispute Resolution

While our attorneys have a strong record of courtroom success, we recognize that more than 95% of civil disputes are resolved before trial. In today's legal environment, clients seek efficient and predictable solutions. When implemented early and strategically, Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR), can reduce expense, mitigate risk, and bring greater certainty to the process.

Mansour Gavin's ADR Group provides mediation, arbitration, and neutral evaluation services to lawyers, litigants, courts, and businesses. Our team brings deep subject-matter knowledge to a broad range of civil disputes, including complex business conflicts, employment matters, personal injury and product liability claims, fiduciary, probate and trust disputes, and real estate and zoning issues.

We work collaboratively with counsel and parties both before litigation and after filing to assess claims, clarify risk, and identify practical pathways to resolution. Whether serving as neutral arbitrators in private proceedings or as court-appointed or private mediators, we focus on achieving effective outcomes that manager exposure, preserve relationships where possible, and minimize the time and cost associated with prolonged litigation. We also advise organizations in developing internal arbitration and mediation frameworks to resolve disputes efficiently within their operations.

Group Attorneys

Charles T. Brown