Mansour Gavin's civil litigation group is dedicated to delivering exceptional legal representation to our clients. We collaborate closely with our clients to establish clear litigation objectives at an early stage, ensuring alignment with their goals, and remain flexible to adjust them as necessary throughout the legal process.

Our litigation group is the foundation of our firm, and our team of lawyers handles a wide array of cases, ranging from complex business disputes to product litigation, tort claims, unfair competition matters, and professional liability claims. We represent a diverse clientele, including corporations, businesses, insurance carriers, food/retail businesses, healthcare providers, transportation companies, contractors/builders, professionals, employers, public agencies, government entities, and risk management sectors in all areas of claims and litigation.

We utilize the latest electronic litigation management software, document organization systems, and demonstrative trial technology as appropriate. Our team is well-versed in alternative dispute resolution, with many attorneys recognized as skilled mediators.

Our cross-functional team approach enables us to leverage attorneys from practice areas to provide you with all-inclusive services to address your legal needs. Our civil litigation attorneys are skilled trial lawyers with proven track records and the courtroom experience necessary to secure favorable outcomes. We carefully consider the costs, benefits, and risks of litigation against potential outcomes and advise our clients on the best available alternatives.
