

Intellectual Property

Our intellectual property lawyers help clients protect and maximize the potential of one of their most valuable assets: Intellectual Property. In an era of globalization and the Internet, vigilant protection and swift, strategic responses to threats are essential.

Our attorneys advise clients in selecting and publicizing trademarks, managing trademark portfolios from the inception of an idea through application, registration, and beyond. To safeguard our clients' creative works, we prepare copyright applications for filing with the United States Copyright Office. We also handle internet domain name disputes in all ICANN-accredited forums and have extensive experience addressing copyright and trademark infringement matters. Our attorneys provide counsel on brand protection and offer proactive strategies for intellectual property management to companies at every stage, from start-ups to global corporations.

We also handle patent infringement and trade secret litigation. Whether in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, federal or state courts, or through our international network of trademark agents, we offer clients comprehensive intellectual property enforcement services worldwide.
